

What's Involved?

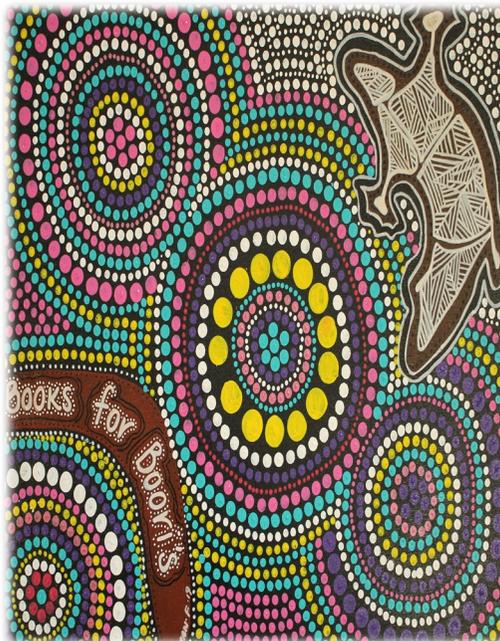

*Our project worker can meet you in your home or anywhere you feel comfortable.

*Our project worker can visit and call you several times a year, to talk with you about early literacy and how you can help your baby develop their early literacy skills.

*Books for Booris provides free age appropriate books and toys for your child.

*Our project worker can help link you up with other services you might need as a parent (eg. Playgroup, library, preschool)

Books for Booris is free and voluntary.

Proudly Supported by:

Schools as Community
Centres Queanbeyan
Aboriginal Maternal and Infant Health
Service Queanbeyan
Queanbeyan South
Public School
Queanbeyan Public School

BOOKS FOR BOORIS

An early literacy program for Aboriginal families with children
0-5yrs.

Books For Booris is an early literacy program in Queanbeyan for Aboriginal families with children 0-5 years. Books for Booris is a free voluntary program that helps parents learn about the importance of early literacy (sharing stories, songs, rhymes and reading books with their young children)

Introducing
Nitishah Cross
Books for Booris Project Worker

For More Information Contact

Alison
Schools as Community Centres
Office (SaCC)
62972167
Alison.Coster@det.nsw.edu.au

Nitishah Cross
Project worker
Monday & Thursday
0436 808 496
Nitishah.cross2@det.nsw.edu.au

Why Early Literacy?

Reading, rhyming, singing and talking — beginning from birth — really strongly influences literacy and language development, the foundation for all other learning. It is also a really wonderful way to enjoy time together with your baby.

Early literacy development is about everyday, fun activities like singing, talking and playing games.

Key points

- Literacy development is learning about sounds, words and language. Literacy is the basis for your child's ability to read, write, communicate and socialise.
- You can develop your child's early literacy skills by communicating through songs and rhymes with your child.